“But thou, Lord, art most high for evermore. For, lo, thine enemies shall perish; all the workers of iniquity shall be scattered. But my horn shalt thou exalt like the horn of an unicorn: I shall be anointed with fresh oil.

Mine eye also shall see my desire on mine enemies, and mine ears shall hear my desire of the wicked that rise up against me.

The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree: he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon. Those that be planted in the house of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of our God”

(Psalm 92:8-13).

“Before the Mountains...Thou Art God.”

“Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God” (Psalm 90:2).

God is sovereign. Sometimes in our struggle to keep as normal a life as possible we forget that the Lord has already made the way and we must trust him. It is better to make little progress than no progress because you refused to take a step of faith. We can't live on tomorrow's manna. There is a reason that God instructed the Israelites to gather enough manna to meet their needs for the day at hand.

The Lord is looking for a people who will have “manna faith”: faith to believe God for provision every day, allowing tomorrows' manna to wait until it's needed tomorrow. I question myself: Why is it so difficult to realize that I belong to God? I am his daughter and there is nothing that I need that he won't supply, if I'll stop looking at the obstacles, and begin to worship until those obstacles crumble at my praise.

I am dancing in the lily, and my worship will bring the victory, if I'll only release the provision through my obedience. “Thou art God.” Need I say more? Almighty God, took the time to love me. I am not talented, or rich, or well-known, but God loves me. He can cause the mountains that he created, to fall at the speaking of his word. Yet, he gently gathered me up when I was broken. He carefully breathed new life into me. The spirit that was fleeing because of the sorrow and shame of sin, he touched with the balm of Gilead, and he has anointed me with fresh oil. I didn't have to beg for his healing touch, I simply had to believe that he would do it for me. He has always known that I would be his daughter even before the mountains were created. Every hair on my head is numbered, and I am precious in his sight.

When others turn away because they see Jesus in me, he is right beside me to cool the sting of the venomous words they use as weapons. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God and all these things shall be added unto you.” Nothing can harm me as long as I keep worshiping in the lily. All is well with my soul.

Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus. Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are of good report: if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things. Philippians 4:6-8
